

Check Register Importance:

According to a recent report, 90% of people still write checks every month. And, that more than a third believed they will always need to write a check.

There are several benefits of keeping a check register:

- Real-time account info: nothing is more reassuring than having an up-to minute stat on your account balance. With a check register, there is no second guessing.
- Track it all: it is helpful if you track everything from your finances, deposits, checks, and check card transactions.
- Budget aid: at the end of each month, it's easy to go back and look at all your expenses and income, allowing you to provide all info needed to build an accurate and reliable budget.
- FREE: The best part about a check register is that you get one FREE with a Telcoe checking account.
